

The image shows a 5x5 grid of squares. Each square is empty. The grid is bounded by a thick black line. On each of the four sides of this outer boundary, there are small, evenly spaced tick marks, similar to those on a ruler. The grid lines are thin black lines. The overall appearance is that of a blank graph paper or a template for a data table.
